Painting revolving around an aspect of astronomy
SUGS "Georgi Dimitrov" – Skopje, R. Macedonia

In September 2017 in coordination with Art teacher in our school we had interdisciplinary classes: Painting revolving around an aspect of astronomy.

This activity included students from the first and second year classes. During the whole art class, were presented films and paintings from the field of astronomy. It gave inspiration to the students in their creativity. From the most beautiful paintings in the hall of the school was set up an exhibition.

Also with coordination with Art teacher we conducted a logo competition for our Erasmus+ project. There was about 40 drawings. 3 of them took place in final logo competition.
